

Globalising Critical Studies on Men and Masculinities

Hybrid extracurricular Master's course

Do men care? What are alternatives to toxic masculinities? Do far right politics come with specific ideas about masculinity?

Globalising Critical Men and Masculinities is an extracurricular master's course that examines how masculinities and gendered power relations play out across the global North and South. Across the globe, anti-gender politics have intensified, shrinking the space for gender justice and diversity. At the same time, political masculinities are shifting and connecting across borders. This course helps students make sense of these dynamics across different political, social, cultural and economic contexts and explore possibilities for alternative masculinities.

Enrolment is possible and free for current master's students at Erasmus University Rotterdam (EUR). This course is affiliated with the Centre for Excellence in Gender Studies of Quaid-i-Azam University Islamabad (QAU) and the Center for Gender Studies at TED University Ankara (TEDU).

Course building blocks

This course brings together cutting-edge thinking with experiential learning, visual methods and cultural analysis:

Theorizing global & intersectional masculinities

Decolonizing histories of men & masculinity

Hegemonic, conflicting & transformed
masculinities

Masculinities in work, politics, faith & cultural production

Transformative and participatory methods in film and visualization

Meet the team

Dr Saad Ali Khan
ISS Erasmus & QAU

Dr Bilge Şahin
ISS Erasmus

Dr Karin Astrid Siegmann
ISS Erasmus

Including experts:

- Dr Alia Amirali, QAU
- Dr Selin Akyüz, TEDU
- Roland Alvarez Chavez, ISS Erasmus
- Professor Ruard Ganzevoort, ISS Erasmus

Course information

Course dates	Weekly sessions from April-July 2026
Course fee	Free for EUR, QAU and TEDU students enrolled in a master's programme
Registration deadline	28 February 2026

Interested in this course? Contact us.

Email the course's team at criticalmasculinities@iss.nl

Website: iss.nl

Address: Kortenaerkade 12, 2518 AX, The Hague, the Netherlands

Erasmus University Rotterdam

Teaching methods

In a diverse, transnational classroom, students learn from one another across different contexts through:

- Lectures
- Tutorials and workshops
- Film screenings
- Group-based creative assignments

Course benefits

- Global perspectives
- Cutting-edge gender studies
- Real-world case insights
- Learn with expert scholars
- Cross-cultural classroom dialogue with students living in the Netherlands, Pakistan and Turkey

What you need to apply

Please provide the following:

- A brief motivation statement and;
- Proof of your enrolment in an EUR master's programme;
- Or, one of the partner institutions mentioned above.

To ensure diversity of course participants, please note that we will apply quotas related to the universities where participants conduct their master's studies.

Scan for more details

Erasmus